

PARENTING 101 CLASS

Class Begins:
Battle Creek
April 6th
11:00am

The class meets 1
day per week for 6
consecutive weeks.

No cost, all materials are provided.

ENROLL NOW!

Sue Kohl
Parent Instructor

 269.345.1740 x.206

 education@alternativesofkzoo.org

You will learn:

- About behavior of children
- How to meet the 5 basic needs of children
- How to create a climate of openness for great communication
- How to establish clear boundaries
- Strategies to help children avoid harmful risk
- About expressing unconditional love
- How to understand cyclical behaviors

Topics Covered in P101

- Understanding why children behave the way they do and how parents can address the children's needs that drive the behavior
- How to help children develop their strengths in personal qualities and abilities
- How to create a climate of openness to foster open, honest communication in the home
- Learn strategies to address sensitive topics such as sexual relationships and other high risk behaviors
- Learn to strategize to show unconditional and personalized love to children
- Understand how to be a stable authority figure in the home
- Learn how to establish clear boundaries, clear consequences, and consistently enforce discipline
- Learn how to help children develop an internal "moral compass" so that they will be able to stand against the pressure of today's society
- Explore parents' unhealthy family of origin, patterns of behavior, and understanding the need to have a way to start changing these in their own parenting style